

ABSTRACT

A power cord switch adapter including a switch housing, a switch housed within the switch housing, a first connector/conductor end conductively
5 connected to the switch, a second connector/conductor end conductively connected to the switch. The power cord switch adapter may also include an attachment member connected to the switch housing, for attaching the power cord switch adapter to an electronic appliance, for instance an imaging device.